

Fairhaven Health Acquires Milkies Milk-Saver and Milkies Freeze Product Line, Expands Breastfeeding Product Offerings

Fairhaven Health recently added the Milkies Milk-Saver and Milkies Freeze to its breastfeeding support product line. The Milkies Milk-Saver collects leaking breast milk from a mother's non-nursing side as she feeds, while the Milkies Freeze is an innovative "first in, first out" breast milk storage system.

Bellingham, WA (PRWEB) December 17, 2013 -- Fairhaven Health recently acquired the popular Milkies Milk-Saver and Milkies Freeze product line, the company's newest addition to its breastfeeding product offerings. Fairhaven Health also offers natural breastfeeding products including Nursing Blend, Nursing Time Tea, and Nipple Nurture Balm.

"Fairhaven shares many values with Milkies, both companies are committed to supporting the best nutrition for mothers and babies," said Milkies founder Helen Anderson, RN, CLE. "As a nurse and breastfeeding mom of a 15 month old, I only want to work with the best – and that's Fairhaven."

The patented Milkies Milk-Saver collects a mother's leaking breast milk from her non-nursing side as she breastfeeds. Some women expel up to two and a half ounces of breast milk during one feeding. Without the Milk-Saver, that precious "liquid gold" goes to waste - and oftentimes winds up all over the mother's clothing.

The award-winning Milkies Milk-Saver is easy to use. The Milk-Saver discreetly slips into the bra cup and collects the otherwise wasted milk, enabling mothers to collect a stock of valuable breast milk to save for later. The Milk-Saver has received accolades from lactation specialists, pediatricians, and breastfeeding mothers across the globe.

The Milk-Saver has been rigorously tested to ensure zero chemical leaching and is free of BPA and phthalates. It is slim, portable, easy to clean, and comes in a convenient carrying case that also serves as a stand for the Milk-Saver once it is full.

The Milkies Freeze provides a convenient solution to the age-old problem of digging through your freezer to recover lost (and possible torn) breast milk storage bags, as well as using frozen breast milk out of order. With the Freeze, simply collect breast milk in any milk storage bag, and place the bag on the metal quick-freeze tray located at the top of the Freeze. Once the milk is frozen, slip the bag into the Freeze storage system through the slot at the top, and the bag will fall to the bottom of the storage container. This easy-to-use "first in, first out" system helps ensure that you use the oldest milk first and none goes to waste. The Milkies Freeze can store and protect up to 60 ounces of breast milk.

"We're very excited to be adding the Milkies Milk-Saver and Freeze brands to our product portfolio," said Kelly Andrews, CEO of Fairhaven Health. "These are popular, well-received products that enjoy a high degree of awareness in the breastfeeding community, and they further our company's goal of providing helpful products for couples from preconception through lactation."
