MILK SAVER BY MILKIES PRODUCT REVIEW

mommywifelifestyle

Don't you hate when you're breastfeeding and start leaking on the other side! I always would think about how I am wasting so much milk and wish I could save it. I even would go to the extreme and try catching it with a bottle. Breastmilk is literally liquid gold and I did not want to waste one drop of it. They now have products where you can stick it in your bra and it will catch the milk for you. There is one on the market called milk saver by Milkies. I have the honor of testing it out and I love it.

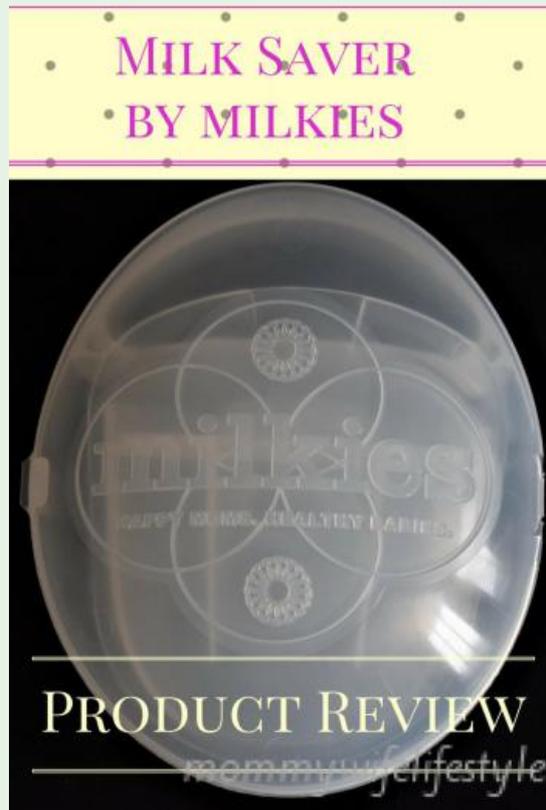

Milk Saver

I never have to worry about wasting my milk anymore. This thing is a life saver well a milk saver. I always hated how much milk I was wasting. This was definitely a great invention for us breastfeeding mamas. I just love how easy it is to use. All you have to do is put it in a nursing tank or bra. You could even hold it if you wanted. This is exactly what I did while pumping from the other side. I am so happy not to have milk running down my stomach going to waste. I do have to say though it is big. Honestly, I was not expecting it to be this big. It does hold a lot of milk, though.

Tested out

After testing it out I poured the milk in a bag to see how much it caught. I was shocked to see 3 ounces and it wasn't even full yet. It even had a little indentation, to make it easier to pour the milk into the bag, without it going all over the place. I also love the fact that it comes in a case. So whenever you are not using it you can store it in its case. This is definitely a must have item for breastfeeding moms. After all, we do cry over spilled milk so let's catch it instead. Do you have a milk saver? If so how do you like it?
