

Fairhaven Health Partners with TV Personality and Entrepreneur, Rosie Pope, to Promote Pregnancy Wellness

Fairhaven Health recently partnered with the star of Bravo's "Pregnant in Heels," Rosie Pope, to promote women's health and increase awareness for Fairhaven Health's natural fertility, pregnancy, and nursing products.

Bellingham, Washington (PRWEB) January 22, 2014 -- Fairhaven Health, a leading retailer of products for trying-to-conceive, pregnant, and nursing women, and Rosie Pope, designer and TV personality, have teamed up to promote reproductive and pregnancy wellness. As part of this partnership, Rosie Pope will conduct product giveaways, host social media events, and provide educational resources to an audience of trying-to-conceive and pregnant couples.

"We're thrilled to be working with Rosie," said Ethan Lynette, senior partner at Fairhaven Health. "She's a trusted and well-known provider of information and support to trying-to-conceive and pregnant women, which is what we strive to accomplish as a company. She's a dynamic personality and knows the struggles our customers face first-hand, it's a perfect fit."

After Pope struggled to get pregnant with her second son, she set out to help educate women about everything related to pregnancy. Her journey was documented in Bravo's first season of "Pregnant in Heels." Pope is a celebrated designer, educator, author of "Mommy IQ," and a contributing editor to "Parents" magazine and Amazon Mom. Pope also oversees her three retail stores, as well as the East and West Coast MomPrep locations which specialize in pre and post natal education.

When Pope is not running her business or teaching classes, she's writing about fertility, pregnancy, and the work-life balance for a host of publications. Her most recent blog post highlights her top five tips for a healthy pregnancy. On the top of her list: take those prenatal vitamins!

"I'm so excited to announce that I'm partnering with Fairhaven Health to spread the word about their amazing line of fertility, pregnancy, and nursing products," Pope said. "After my struggles, I know that health and education surrounding the concept of fertility is hugely important. Whether you're just beginning your journey or you've been trying for some time, Fairhaven Health is a fabulous resource. Even my own OB/GYN, Dr. Amos Grunebaum, has worked with the company and helped formulate their products."
